Learning can be quite demanding and despite giving the best you can, you might end up getting grades that you feel you do not deserve. This might be attributed to an emergency or poor performance. However, in such cases, you can write a letter to professor about changing grades. Wondering how to write this letter? Professors have three ranks: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor or Professor. In addition, the professor might have an additional title, such as "Chair of the Literature Department." Use these titles appropriately or you may offend the professor that you are writing to. It helped me a lot because English is not my native language and I was having a hard time writing an email for an English speaker researcher. ... How do I address a letter to an Assistant Professor who doesn't have a Ph.D.? We're told not to call them Dr.'s if they don't have a Ph.D. and she doesn't have a Ph.D. Letters to an English Professor (The Connaghers Book 0), page 1 1 2 3 4 5 6, Letters To An English Professor.
